THE VERMILION ELECTION

As election day approaches in Vermilion, the opposition to Mr. Sifton abandons the high constitutional ground which it has been taking and the faade in which the electors are urged to defeat the Premier is that which comes more trippingly to the tongues of those who use it. In this morning's Journal for instance, a line stretched across the front page gives the information that "Vermilion will not stand for jobbery." This is an unquestionably true, but why the fact should be given such prominence is not quite clear. There has been no evidence forthcoming of any jobbery on the part of the late Premier or of any of those who were his colleagues immediately prior to his resignation. Mr. Sifton was, for a considerable period a minister of the Crown for the northwestern Territories, and no one ever charged him with any dealings that were not strictly honest and aboveboard. Why, then, use this language?

On another page of the Journal we are told that Mr. Sifton is to pay "the penalty for perjury." This penalty consists in accepting "the premiership at the hands of the Lieutenant Governor." But it is only at the hands of the Lieutenant Governor that anyone can accept the premiership. So long as the majority of the members of the House sanction the Lieutenant Governor's choice, the Prime Minister thus selected will retain office. Can anyone deny that the majority of members of the Alberta Legislature are supporting Mr. Sifton?

We are told that the constituency is being overrun with "a swarm of political heeds." What right has a newspaper to refer to those who have come into the constituency from outside points to help Mr. Sifton in this language and not to those of Mr. Clark's supporters who are in exactly the same position? There is a great deal of unsensational talk about the operations of the "machine." Under our system of government, party organizations are absolutely necessary to success. There is nothing inherently wrong about these so-called "machines." They are at work for both parties in Vermilion today and it is the height of dishonesty for one to denounce the other because of the fact that both are working for Mr. Sifton. Mr. Sifton is quite a reputable citizen as those who are doing so for Mr. Clark. But if all outside interference is to be deprecated, the stronger reason against the Conservative organization, for there is no question that but for this there would have been no opposition to Mr. Sifton whatever. The president of the Vermilion Conservative association expressed himself as opposed to a contest, but a delegation from Edmonton went by train into the riding and had a candidate brought out. These gentlemen have from first to last been the guiding spirits of the Conservative campaign. The charge is made that Mr. Sifton's supporters are urging electors to vote for him because he is Minister of Public Works and accordingly he will be able to give the constituency what it wants. But Mr. Sifton himself has stated most emphatically several times that Vermilion cannot expect anything but what it is justly entitled to and it is by this rather than by a newspaper correspondent's paragraph in which no particulars are given, as to who is adopting this style of argument that this must be judged.

Vermilion has the opportunity on Wednesday to render genuine public service. In Mr. Sifton Alberta will have a leader of force and capacity and integrity. He has already succeeded in rallying to his support all but a handful of the present members of the Legislature. With these at his back and with the people of Vermilion showing that they appreciate a man of his calibre at the head of affairs, he will be able to give us the kind of government we are in particular need of at this juncture in our history. His strength will make for the effectiveness and the larger the majority the Premier obtains, the better it will be for the present and future welfare of the province.

STRIKE TREMBLES IN THE BALANCE

Conference Between Railway and Men Today Will Decide Future Action

NEITHER WANTS A STRIKE

It Is Possible That Some Way Will Be Found of the Difficulty

Montreal, June 27.—Having come to a point where they must either back up or fight the Canadian Pacific Railway and the representatives of the Trainmen and Conductors have apparently concluded that it would be the better part of wisdom to take a second look at the proposition before precipitating a conflict. After each side announced that they had sent out an ultimatum stating their irrevocable minimum they will come together again today. There is a possibility that some way out of the thing will be arrived at without loss of dignity to justice to either side. While the position is still decidedly tough, the opposition are apparently springing for an opening with the idea that neither side wants a strike, or can afford one, while neither side wants to give way. It is a position that would naturally suggest a compromise and today's conference may pave the way to that.

In any event Vice-President Murdock, of the Trainmen, who was conferring with Vice-President Berry, of the Conductors' Brotherhood, stated this evening that their conference would probably decide whether negotiations were to proceed in future on a friendly basis or lead to open hostility. As matters now stand there is a good deal of misapprehension about the company and the men. J. W. Leonard, of the Canadian Pacific, stated yesterday that the company still adhered to the stand pat policy and would stick to the adoption of the award of the board of conciliation, notice to this effect having been sent to Mr. Murdock.

Exactly the opposite statement was made by Mr. Murdock, who said that the representatives of the men gathered from Mr. Leonard's letter that the company would be willing to pay the standard wages of the territory and would give in to all their demands.

THEY FEAR RECIPROCITY

London, June 27.—The Morning Post fears Canada may be driven further into reciprocity with the United States than her government and people now intend as the organized opposition of the Canadian manufacturers may prove not strong enough to counteract the pressure of other sections, when actual proposals come to be made.

POLICE LOOKING FOR GOULDTHRIE

Former Superintendent of Government Printing Bureau Is Fugitive From Justice

Ottawa, June 27.—As a result of instructions from the state department, Col. Percy Sherwood, chief of the Dominion police, is sending out an illustrated circular to the various police departments of the continent, containing a photograph and a description of the missing Frank S. Gouldthrie, superintendent of stationery at the Printing Bureau. It is stated that the government is sure to expect in order to bring him back to Ottawa to answer the charges against him.

One result of the discovery of irregularities in the department will be a complete reorganization of the department. One of the men dismissed was J. G. Albert Harwood, a clerk in the department of the superintendent of Printing. He had charge of the time sheets from which the cost of the different jobs were calculated. Just what Mr. Harwood's offence was not yet been stated. It is understood that in several instances more time was charged up against certain jobs than had been actually used on it, but whether Mr. Harwood was directly or only indirectly responsible for this is unknown.

LIBERAL PARTY IS SOLID UNIT

George P. Smith Addresses Innisfree Meeting on Behalf of Premier Sifton

CHEERS FOR THE PREMIER

The Meeting Was An Enthusiastic One and Points to Big Liberal Vote There

(By a Staff Correspondent)

Innisfree, June 25.—Premier Sifton spent the greater part of the day here in seeing the surrounding country, and this evening addressed a large and enthusiastic meeting in Norris' Hall. The Citizens' band escorted the premier from his hotel to the hall, and opened the meeting with a selection.

Despite the premier, who was the principal speaker, Mr. George P. Smith, M. P. P. for Camrose, addressed the gathering, and Mr. H. A. Mackie, an Edmonton lawyer, spoke in support of Mr. Clark.

Mr. Smith acted as chairman, and opened the meeting with a brief speech. Mr. Smith spoke next, followed by Mr. Mackie, and then the premier replied.

In his address, Mr. Sifton told the people of Innisfree how he had received the unanimous nomination of the Liberal convention. It was left with the people of the constituency to say whether or not he had "been thrust upon them," as Mr. Clark declared.

"Mr. Mackie has come here tonight," continued Mr. Sifton, "and read to you a list of names of the men who are supporting me, assisting me in my campaign. He has endeavored to cast aspersions upon the fact that there are so many of them, but let me tell you that any man might deem it an honor to have men like these. There are members of the local and Dominion House who have come to me and volunteered their services and they are giving up their time of their own free will.

"Reference has also been made to the fact that there has been trouble in the Liberal party. But you will notice that it was our own troubles, and has been settled by ourselves. The Conservative party had nothing to do with locating the trouble and curing it. We did that ourselves."

The premier then pointed out that all the Conservative speakers admitted the Lieutenant-Governor was constitutionally right.

"What more do they want?" asked the speaker. "The point where she pinches the Conservative party, is that it is not advantageous to their interests."

Mr. Sifton then referred to the platform published by Clark, in which he declared he was an independent.

"But he was nominated at a Conservative convention," Mr. Sifton pointed out, "and there was no question then that he should pose as an independent. As far as Mr. Clark's platform is concerned, he could never get even the Conservative party to accept it, so in this respect he is decidedly independent."

Support and Control
"Mr. Mackie has asked if I could guarantee control of the members of the present legislature," continued the premier. "No I cannot. At least, not the Liberal members. Liberal members and voters are not built that way. But although I cannot guarantee to control the members of the legislature, I have been assured by a majority of the members that they will support me."

The premier then stated that he would not try to bribe the electors of Vermilion by promising them bridges or roads, but he would bring them what they would receive the same attention as the other constituencies of the province. The policy of the premier in regard to railroads and roads and schools was also touched on, and when the premier took his seat, the crowd broke up in cheers.

G. P. Smith's Address
Mr. George P. Smith, member for Camrose, took occasion to congratulate the people of Innisfree on the beautifully situated town that they possessed, and on the exceptionally fine band that they had.

"Vermilion constituency has voluntarily placed itself in a very enviable position," began Mr. Smith, "in that they have nominated as their Liberal

WESTERN LINES NOT AFFECTED

Calgary, Alta., June 27.—District Superintendent C. S. Maharaj of the C.P.R. said Saturday that the trouble spoken of in the despatches from Montreal does not affect the western lines of the C. P. R. as far as he knows. He thinks the difficulty exists only in the territory to the east. Trainmen also say that they have heard nothing of the trouble.

Republicans and Radicals Organize Demonstrations to Offset Catholic Agitation

Madrid, Spain, June 27.—The Vatican's latest note to the Spanish government is regarded as an ultimatum. It insists upon practically a withdrawal of the decree of June 11th as a condition precedent to the continuation of negotiations over the revision of the Concordat. Republicans and Radicals are organizing throughout Spain counter demonstrations against the Catholic agitation.

San Sebastian, Spain, June 27.—A riot occurred today at quarters of Basque Club and shots were exchanged. Killing guards charged, killing one man and injuring several others.

Bilbao, Spain, June 27.—Republicans who were making an anti-Catholic demonstration raided the Catholic Club rooms and rioting followed. The police intervened, but before the fight was stopped, one man had been killed and many others injured.

THE DEATH OF MRS. ARCHIBALD

Wife of Well-Known Edmonton Druggist Succumbs to a Brief Illness This Afternoon.

The death occurred this afternoon at 2.15 of Mrs. Arthur Archibald at her home on Seventh street after a short illness. Mrs. Archibald's maiden name was Miss Alice Wilson, of St. Mary's, Ontario, her marriage taking place just about a year ago. For a considerable period previous she had been a teacher in the Normal school at Toronto. To the bereaved husband the deepest sympathy of a wide circle of friends will be extended.

OUTLOOK IS GOOD

Winnipeg, June 27.—The hot weather which has been a feature of the past fortnight promises to continue over the week end. Pleasant thunder showers, accompanied in some instances by damaging storms, have, however, visited most of these districts reporting lack of moisture and the grain exchange. Saturday's general view of the Manitoba crop is distinctly optimistic. Encouraging reports have also been received from the western provinces. It is not denied, however, that the late grain on the high lands has suffered by the extreme heat.

EXAMINATIONS IN PROGRESS

The examinations for standards five and six in the public schools began this morning and will conclude on Thursday. There are 265 candidates waiting, 180 of these being residents of Edmonton. The remainder come from St. Albert, Fort Saskatchewan, and the rural districts. Mr. E. L. Hill, of Strathcona, is in charge, assisted by Superintendent McCall; Mr. Munro, of Lamont; Mr. Hogan, of St. Albert; Mrs. Clark, of Strathcona; and Prof. Carr, of the university. The examinations for Standards seven and eight, and for matriculation will begin next week.

MINISTER ATTACKS FRENCH CANADIANS

Declares Quebec Aims at a Republic Independent of the Dominion

WAS PATRIOTIC SUNDAY

Rev. J. W. Duclos in Erskine Presbyterian Church Gives His Views

It being the Sunday set aside by the Presbyterian General Assembly as Patriotic Sunday, Rev. J. W. Duclos in the Erskine Presbyterian Church, yesterday preached a patriotic sermon which began with an interesting discourse on the numbers and the varieties of people coming into Canada in connection with the country had to deal with the French Canadians. The patriotic remarks were addressed to a large congregation of which about half were school children. Several naps were arranged within reach of the pulpit and were used by Rev. Mr. Duclos in his address. The address dealt chiefly with the problem Canada has to face in assimilating the various races that are becoming her citizens, and it was in connection with this subject that Dr. Duclos directed his attack upon the French-speaking citizens of this country.

Mr. Duclos maintained that the French people was the most serious with which the country had to deal. A dual language and the continuance of dual relations, he said, was an impossibility and was a menace to our national integrity. The French Canadians, he charged, desired to secure the autonomy of the Province of Quebec with the aid of establishing a republic there.

"The assimilation of this heterogeneous mixture into a homogeneous whole can only be done by one language," declared the Rev. Mr. Duclos, in conclusion.

MANY ENQUIRIES AT STRATHCONA

Indications Are That Crowds of Settlers Are Coming to This District

A CHINAMAN ATTACKED

Two Edmonton Youths in Strathcona Were Tempted by His Display of Wealth

The number of visitors at the Strathcona Board of Trade office last week was nearly a record one. Secretary Baines said that there was an average of twenty per day coming from all parts of the country, but particularly from Oklahoma, Iowa and Wisconsin. One man from Oklahoma said that he represented 40 families who were dissatisfied with their present location and who wished to take up land in this country.

Living, he said, was becoming impossible owing to the heavy taxation which has lately been added in the state. To own large tracts was becoming impossible. Three hundred and twenty acres were assessed at $20 per acre and taxed five per cent, 38 acres at 10 per cent, and so on. The visitors were favorably impressed with the opportunities of this country and in practically every case have decided to sell out at home and emigrate to this district.

Chinaman Was Attacked
A ten dollar bill caused quite a furor in a restaurant in Strathcona yesterday afternoon. It was in the hands of the Chinese proprietor of the house.

He, of course, catching the eyes of two Edmonton youths who were having a meal, aroused in them a desire for it. They got some sand and carefully preparing a sandbag, with it and a couple of handkerchiefs, they followed the Chinaman into his kitchen and while his back was turned one of them dealt him a vicious blow on the head, at the same time reaching out a hand to take the money from his pocket. Fortunately the blow did not land precisely where it was directed, and the Chinaman, although somewhat dazed, was able to hold one of the youths and call for help.

CIGARETTE STUB STARTS BAD FIRE

Excursion Steamer on the Mississippi Was Burned—Had Crowd on Board

THREE LOST THEIR LIVES

Many Were Injured, Some Seriously, in the Panic Caused by Flames

Lacrosse, Wis., June 27.—Only three persons out of 500 lost their lives Saturday night on account of the burning in the Mississippi river of the excursion steamer J. S., according to the officers of the Acme Packet Company owners of the vessel. Five other persons were severely hurt in the panic and fifty others were cut and bruised in escaping from the boat.

The prompt work of the crew and cool headed passengers prevented hundreds of persons from jumping in to the river in midstream.

Mrs. Emma Randall, of New Albion, Iowa, was the only one who jumped into the water. Her body has not been recovered. An unidentified woman was drowned while leaving the steamer. John Lane, of Waukon, Iowa, who had been locked up for disorderly conduct was forgotten in the excitement and was burned to death.

It is said that a cigarette stub thrown under a stairway started the flames, but nothing definite has been ascertained. The loss to the Acme Packet Company is $60,000. Nearly every passenger on the steamer lost clothing and valuables.

RAILWAY MUST PAY DAMAGES

C. P. R. Loses in Its Appeal Against Judgment in Favor of E. K. Rise

Judgment has been delivered against the appellants in the case of Eric K. Rise vs. the Canadian Pacific Railway. The lawsuit had its origin in the case of a valuable section belonging to Mr. Rise, of Pincher Creek in a collision of freight trains on the line between Pincher Creek and Lethbridge. The plaintiff sued for $224,50, which included damages for injuries to himself as well as for the death of the station.

In the stated case proceedings Chief Justice Sifton decided in favor of the plaintiff and the Supreme Court of Canada upheld his decision on the appeal which was heard in Calgary recently. The decision was given on Saturday. The plaintiff secured judgment in spite of the fact that the contract between himself and the company stated that the latter would not be liable for damages for an amount larger than $100. The plaintiff argued that the collision was caused by the company running a freight on Sunday in contravention of the Lord's Day Act.

C. C. McCull, K.C., of Edmonton, acted for the plaintiff, while the company was represented by R. H. Bennett, K.C.

It is likely that the company will appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada and if necessary to the Privy Council in England.

BRING NORWEGIANS TO THIS COUNTRY

Captain Mikkellborg Will Endeavor to Divert Immigration in This Direction

NOW GOING TO STATES

Former Seaman Was Amazed at the Great Resources and Opportunities Here

Captain Johann A. Mikkellborg, late of the Norwegian merchant marine is working out a scheme by which he hopes to divert the immigration from Norway and Sweden which has hitherto favored the United States to Canada. Captain Mikkellborg states that there are about an average of 15,000 immigrants a year arriving in the United States from those countries, and he believes that with proper organization a great number of them can be persuaded to come to Canada.

Captain Mikkellborg was born in Bromo, Norway, and has been a seaman the greater part of his life. He has travelled over nearly the whole globe and has acquired much knowledge and experience. He speaks English fluently. How he managed to turn up in the Canadian West is interesting. Captain Mikkellborg made a trip to the United States from Norway this spring and while travelling in the western states he heard much conversation and comment about Canada, so he decided to see for himself. He has seen for himself and is satisfied that the accounts he had heard did not do the country sufficient credit. The Edmonton district came in for a large share of popularity in the south and that accounts for Captain Mikkellborg's presence in this particular part of the country.

In a conversation with a Capital reporter, Captain Mikkellborg stated that he had previously heard of Canada, but had never acquainted with the enormous extent, fertility, or conditions. The revelation to him was astounding. Comparing his native country and Sweden with Canada, Captain Mikkellborg said that this country had enormous advantages in every way in regard to farming. The land in Norway was sterile and rocky and the climate poor.

Captain Mikkellborg has opened an office on First street and will act as the representative of the Scandinavian steamship line. He will remain here for the summer and find out all he can from every source about the country, study conditions, peoples' habits, so that he may become thoroughly acquainted and capable of imparting that knowledge to his own countrymen on his return to Norway, next winter.

Especially in the northern part of Norway, Canada is still an unknown quantity but it could be shown to those hardy colonists in that north land that there was a country of this fertility, abounding with possibilities, where they could find a scope for their abilities, comfortable homes for their families, and a certain independence.

TRAPPER DIED ALONE IN WOODS

He Was Found on His Bed With Winter's Catclaw Around Him

Cobalt, June 27.—Near Abnaskong Lake, in Cobalt district, two prospectors, named Grant and Hessler, came upon a dead trapper in his cabin in the woods. They were wandering in the bush prospecting, and got far away from beaten tracks, and came upon the shack, around which there were absolutely no tracks, and went in, expecting to find protection from the flies while they ate dinner. Opening the door they found on the bed the body of a man, which, from its advanced stage of decomposition, must have been there for months. Beside the body were two pairs of snowshoes, a canoe and one paddle. In the cabin were all the fruits of his winter's work in the shape of furs, and it looked as if he were about to strike for civilization when death came. They went to Cobalt and reported, but have heard nothing further of the matter.

MONDAY, JUNE 27, 1910.

Some very contrary reports are appearing in the newspapers in regard to crop conditions south of Calgary. All admit that the prospects fall below those of other years. But many say that there is no cause for the general alarm, that is being expressed. It is to be sincerely hoped that this is the case. North of Calgary the outlook could not be brighter but the anxiety as a whole must suffer in reputation by a bad year in a section into which there has within the past few seasons been so large an immigration. Some facts, however, presented by the Nanton News in its last issue are very far from reassuring. Nanton occupies a fairly central position in the southern country. It has had less rain than the districts to the north and west of it, and more than most of those to the south and east. The present weather report at that point shows that the rainfall there has been very much less than in other years. In 1906 there were 10.16 inches in May and June. In 1907 it dropped to 3.50. In 1908 it was 10.84 and in 1909 4.26. But up to the 17th of June this year there had fallen .70 inches. There was a rain a week ago yesterday, but the News states that while it was heavy west of the town, in the town and to the east it was not enough to have any noticeable effect upon the crops. The Lethbridge News the other day pointed out that the present season should serve as a lesson to those who hold that, because good luck had attended operations in that district for some years past, there was no need for the expenditure of the large amount of money which had been made on irrigation. The Nanton News has this observation to make: "This is a year which tests good farming. It is a year which demonstrates the Campbell system of soil culture. Land which has been well cultivated, and particularly which has been packed, is standing the dry weather and the more it has been packed the better the crops look."

One cannot help feeling a large measure of sympathy with Porter J. Charlton, the young man who has confessed to the most horrible wife-murder, committed at Comox, B.C., which has roused the attention of two continents. It is only half a year ago that the victim created a sensation by shooting, without killing, a New York lawyer in the rooms of the Waldorf-Astoria. She was evidently one of those astounding products of the artificial life of great cities, people who after "going the pace" for a number of years, with every opportunity to gratify their whims, develop into complete irresponsibles.

But after the affair just mentioned, young Charlton, who, though barely twenty-one years of age, had evidently pursued much the same course, married her and they went off to Italy, on their honeymoon. This is what happened according to his confession: "My wife had an ungovernable temper and so did I. She used much degrading language. The night I killed her her language was something terrible and I warned her. She kept quiet a few moments, but started to talk again and I struck her on the head with a wooden mallet I was fixing the couch with. I struck her two or three times. I then put the body in the trunk and threw the mallet into the lake with it. I know I am entirely innocent. I am guilty. I have no defence and want none."

Is it any wonder that so miserable an ending came to such a mating? So much for "romance" among high-spirited. It would be a miracle if they had escaped a fate like that which has come to them.

The Herald fire in Montreal, with the heavy loss of life which it brought about, was an excellent example of the difficulty of getting municipal authorities to take steps to prevent such disasters till one of a most serious character has actually taken place. Four years ago it seems two accidents took place in Montreal, one of them with fatal results, owing to tanks being erected on top of buildings. The Builders' Exchange passed a resolution calling on the council to make a thorough investigation of the matter. Now it will probably be dealt with thoroughly.

A former well-known Edmonton journalist contributes a delightful sketch to the Toronto Mail and Empire of the trip of the first colonization train to the Canadian West, which he accompanied. A portion of it is reproduced on this page. What a change has been brought about in thirty years. Now the American authorities are at their wits' end to stop the rush to Canada. And how unreasonably appear the complaints of those who travel today in palatial comfort afforded by the main lines of railway bridging the east and west!

What Others Say

THE NORTH WILL WIN OUT

(Camrose Canadian)

Reports will be going far and wide this season that a lean year has struck Alberta. The statement was made a while ago by a leading farmer, the Medicine Hat, Lethbridge and Calgary districts had rain the crops would be a failure. The rain did not come. Anxiety on the part of the banks and business houses developed into a conviction that the harvest this year would be away below par. In many ways publicity has been given to the impending blow to the Alberta farmer. A Lethbridge newspaper went so far as to print an editorial predicting the foreboding of the corporation that promoted the irrigation project, whereby hundreds of acres were saved from the prolonged drought. At this time it would be well to remember that Southern Alberta has not a monopoly on the harvest of this province. While it is graciously accepting the adverse conditions, the so-called Northern Alberta is awaiting the harvest season with its customary optimism. The crops have taken a little time to get away to a good start, but every day is lessening the handicap which the season has gained. A trip through the Camrose district will reveal many fields of winter wheat heading out into a splendid crop. The spring grains after the timely showers are making rapid strides under most favorable conditions. That great country, bounded on the south by the most norly irrigation ditch and on the north by the Alberta boundary line, sends out no report of a prospective crop failure. In the race against time, which is now the only consideration, there is every indication that the crop in Northern Alberta will again put its nose over the line and win the stake of a bountiful harvest.

THE FIRST COLONIZATION TRAIN TO THE CANADIAN WEST

(Thomas A. Grigg, in Toronto Mail and Empire)

The first colonization train to the Canadian West set out in May, 1879. The party was made up of farmers, their families from the Ottawa Valley who saw more productive land in the North-West and wanted it, and as the train progressed across the country their number was augmented by many additions, so that when the party reached Toronto it was a very large one requiring some skill in the handling. It was a Grand Trunk railway train under the charge of the late Mr. Taylor, of the Ottawa Customs department, but formerly G.T.R. agent at Ottawa. It was made up of first-class coaches with the low backed seats that obtained some years ago for this was before the time of colonist and tourist cars, in which are ease and comfort. Thirty-one years have elapsed since that train wended its slow way along the water front, and the crudities and crudities of travel have gone with the years. That train had no right of way over anything on the road, and it stopped and stayed anywhere it was ordered to. It was a most erratic thing in the way of trains, and when it stopped it was idle to speculate when it would start again, for it was the first train of the kind sent over the road and it had no right of way. It was its portion whenever anything had to pass. So it dawdled along on a time sheet of its own, and its arrival at any point was uncertain. Within was the most patient company of men and women and they were companionable we soon became very friendly. As there was no sleeping accommodation we did the long watch sitting upright in the low-backed seats and when we woke suddenly from fitful sleep with manifestations of strangulation we knew that our necks had hung across the seat backs to the point of dislocation. There were no cooking facilities and those who had not provided themselves with hampers of food subsisted by hungry descents upon lunch counters wherever found. Each day was the same monotonous wait and each night was a weary vigil for the day.

After a long interval we reached Chicago, where they halted up around by the stock yards, then in a remarkably called Bridgeport, long since swallowed up in the great city. The train was halted at the side of the hog yards, and there it tarried for five or six hours. The weariness of the wait could have been borne with confidence, for custom had staked up to any delay, but to lie along a Chicago hog yard at Bridgeport at that day was a trial from which the most reckless would shrink. As our shrinking capillaries were restricted we could not escape the unpleasant company of the muck-rakers that swarmed in the yards and that odor seemed to accompany us as far as St. Paul, where we arrived a few days afterwards. We lay at St. Paul a whole day and crowds gathered to look at the Canadians as at some curious animals that Minnesota had heard about but had not seen.

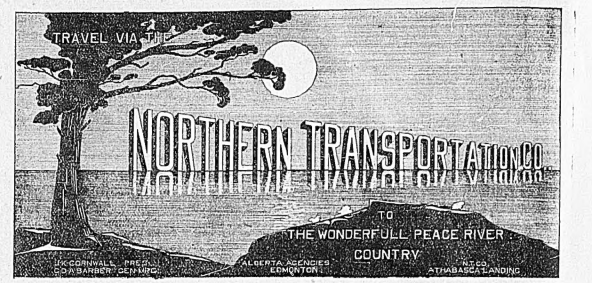

Although this was the first colonization train that had gone through yet we were not the first immigrants to the new land. Bands of them from England and the Continent and from Eastern Canada had preceded us and had first suggested to Americans that the prairies of the Canadian West were likely to compete with them for settlers, and consequently the land agents of American railway lines and State agents who had free land to offer began to board all trains in quest of these Canadian immigrants with a view to inducing them to settle in the North-Western States. They held out all sorts of allurement to Canadians, many of whom succumbed and were carried off only to regret it in after years. To such lengths was this grand larceny of our immigrants carried that the Dominion government deemed it necessary to station agents at St. Paul to protect Canadian homeseekers from these seducers, who would lead our people at every turn and sang them sweet songs of fat crops and fortune on the plains of Minnesota and Dakota. The easily-leds tried to learn the first addition to a farm in Dakota was a cyclone cellar, into which to retreat at the first sign of a storm, or to accept the alternative of being blown over into the next county, whence it was a long walk home, accordingly to live in Dakota one had to acquire the gopher habit of ducking under ground at the first intimation of a high wind. So Canadian agents patrolled the immigrant trains, advising the passengers to keep their seats and that they would get to the land of promise in a few days, where they could raise wheat without having to hawser down their homes. One of these agents was the late Mr. George Kingsmill, formerly Dominion immigration agent at Manchester, England, and to his good advice and guidance many men now comfortably settled in Manitoba and the West owe their prosperity.

At long last we arrived at Winnipeg or rather at St. Boniface. There were few legends in leaving the train, for most of us were car sick and ripe for any change. So we stepped cheerfully off into about a foot of soft and adhesive mud. I learned that we were about a mile and a half from the ferry to Winnipeg, that lay beyond us across the Red River. Alkali mud is as slippery as soap and as sticky as glue, and it has a caustic property that discolors clothes, and when we had done that bit of mile or so, the soil of travel was surely upon us. We stepped wearily upon the ferry and were waited over on a rope, hoping for better things upon the other side, where the "city" was. But there was mud everywhere and where there was mud there were saloons and eating houses. These seemed to comprise the "city." The fare was rough and the liquor bad, and after one night on a corn shuck bed, and pillows of baled hay, I decided that there were more agreeable places to be found, and fled to the ferry, over the mud road and back to the train for St. Paul. My first view of the "Gateway of the West" had not been favorable. But there were opportunities there. During my brief stay a man offered me half an interest in a hotel, the receipts of which were princely, but never having practised on that side of the bar, I declared for pleasant though precarious journalism. That man now lives in a colonial mansion on a picturesque farm near Newmarket, and it is worth $300,000, but few know that the nucleus of that fortune began in a hay-bag hotel and a sloppy bar near Point Douglas.

"The Chorus Lady," a comedy-drama by James Forbes, the play in which Rose Stahl made such a tremendous success the past two seasons will be the offering tonight and tomorrow (Tuesday) night by the Eckhardt Company at the Empire. The story is intensely interesting and dramatic. The play will be given a splendid production by Mr. Eckhardt, which characterizes all of his work so far given in Edmonton. The company will be greatly augmented in number for this production and promises to be one which will be long remembered in Edmonton.

Young Man, are you looking ahead-Young Woman, are you?

DO YOU REALIZE that in a very short space of time, the High Level Bridge will make Strathcona and Edmonton one?

IT MEANS 5c CAR FARE—it means one city—and the time to buy on the Strathcona side is today.

ANOTHER THING, where will the manufacturers who must eventually gravitate to this centre locate?

—STRATHCONA.—Because, the manufacturers can buy sites at half the cost they sell on the north side, with just as good facilities for transportation, on the Strathcona side. Shrewd, farseeing business have been quietly absorbing heavy interest here recently, and on the completion of the bridge there will be things doing on the Strathcona side.

NOW a few words about HILLCREST.

It is the CHEAPEST buying on the S'cona side today

It is situated on a beautifully graduated slope facing right on the river, which presents an ideal residential location, in what will eventually be the exclusive west end district. I want to take YOU out to see this property. Lots from $25 to $65, terms $10 cash, balance to suit purchaser. No interest. It is worth viewing and Auto will leave this office at convenient hours. Come in and reserve a seat, it will cost only your time.

OLD IDEA KNOCKED OUT

London, June 27.—Sir Frederick Treves astonished the public this week when he said: "The idea that colds are caused by draughts is absurd. No cold ever had such an origin. Colds are a result, not of draughts, but of stuffy rooms." Other London physicians back up Sir Frederick in holding that no cold ever was caused by a draught.

WHAT WILL RESULT FROM CONFERENCE?

Leaders of British Parties Will Endeavor to Reach Agreement This Week

OUTLOOK NOT HOPEFUL

It Is Unlikely Any Compromise Can Be Reached to Satisfy Both Parties

London, June 27.—The conference in which the leaders of the two great political parties are engaged is important in the last degree. While it may prove futile, the mere fact that a conference has been entered in at all indicates a possibility of a settlement.

The position of the leaders of either party is not an enviable one. The less known of the Tory peers and the more unbending among the rank and file of their party are furious with the Liberal leader, for entering into the conference, and with the journals of the party which have suggested compromise. Mr. Asquith's attitude is being watched by the Irish and Labor members and by the extremists of his own party with suspicion, particularly as they have always suspected his Radicalism. It is in a large measure due to two men with particularly sane heads, Mr. Long on the Unionist and Mr. Haldane on the Liberal side that the conference has materialized at all.

It should be mentioned that the leaders on either side do not go into the conference armed with the powers of plenipotentiaries.

One Great Objection

The hundred principal Liberal objections to the House of Lords, as at present constituted are in respect of first, its hereditary principles, secondly its control over finance, as exemplified by its rejection of last year's budget, thirdly its paramount control over general legislation, as exemplified by its rejection of the Education and Licensing Bills. The Unionists, as a whole are undoubtedly prepared to abandon the Peers' hereditary principles, in the manner indicated by Lord Rosebery's series of resolutions, and it is barely possible that, in obedience to official pressure they may consent to abrogate the control over the finance at present claimed by the Upper House. But there is high authority for stating that they are practically unanimous in their determination not to agree that bills relating to matters of general legislation should become as of right, at the instance of the government of the day supported by a majority in the House of Commons, the law of the land within the life time of a single Parliament.

Nothing More Tangible

The gaining of complete control over finance—assuming, as is just barely possible, the Unionists consent to this being yielded up by the Peers—would be, beyond all question, a notable triumph for Liberalism. Still, it is doubtful whether even this would make up, in the eyes of the Radical stalwarts, for the inability of the Liberal leaders to gain at the conference, practically supreme control over general legislation for the House of Commons.

Thus it cannot be said that the prospects of anything tangible in the way of a constitutional settlement resulting from the conference, which has been convened within the first six weeks of our new King's reign, look particularly favorable.

DOGS USED IN 'THE ALASKAN' BREED THAT DR. COOK DROVE

No, these pretty girls were not with Dr. Cook when he went to the pole, but the blood brothers of the dogs were. The girls play in "The Alaskan," and the dogs were brought from the frozen North to make the scene realistic. They are great pets of the girls.

SASKATOON MAN SHOT HIS WIFE

Heard a Noise in the Night and Thought It Was a Thief

THEN MISSED HIS WIFE

And Found Her Lying Dead on the Floor With a Bullet Wound

Saskatoon, June 27.—Charles Davis, a colored man, lies in the local police station on a charge of manslaughter, a coroner's jury Saturday afternoon having found that his wife came to her death from a revolver shot fired by her husband on the evening of Friday, June 24th.

Davis, who has been janitor of the National Trust Building, lives in a small shack on the west side, and on Friday evening he and his wife retired about 10 o'clock. Some time after the people in the neighborhood heard a revolver shot, and a few minutes later the colored man came running from the shack crying that he had shot his wife.

This is about all that is known of the affair except the story told for Davis. He immediately went to the station police and gave himself up, and during the course of his story, in which he appeared also heart-broken over the affair, told Chief of Police Tate to the effect that, shortly after midnight, he heard a noise in the house as if burglars had entered.

Having been troubled with robbers in the past, he had purchased a .38-calibre revolver, and pulling this from under his pillow, where he had placed it on going to bed, fired point blank at an object which he saw moving in the centre of the room and which, to his apparent sorrow, proved to be his wife. The bullet entered the left temple, and she sank with a groan to the floor, dying almost immediately.

WRECK REMOVED, BODIES CAME UP

They Were Drowned Three Years Ago in the Quebec Bridge Disaster

Quebec, Que., June 27.—Pinned down under the mass of fallen debris of the Quebec bridge, which fell three years ago, two bodies have come to the surface as a result of the work which is now being carried on over the South Shore to remove the mass of tangled iron and steel in order to make way for the new structure which it is proposed to erect to replace the ill-fated attempt to connect the two shores. The bodies were beyond recognition, but are supposed to be those of Caughtwaga Indians who were employed on the bridge at the time of its collapse. The bodies had evidently been buried in the sand and held down by the mass of iron which covered them.

"SNOW BALL" THE POLAR BEAR IN THE "ALASKAN"

BOYCOTT AGAINST UNITED STATES

South American Countries May Use That Means as Protest Against Interference

Valparaiso, June 27.—A confederation of South American countries to combat the alleged growing imperialism of the United States by a boycott on American goods is proposed by the delegates from Venezuela to the Pan-American conference, beginning at Buenos Ayres on July 9th.

If, on arriving at Buenos Ayres, the Venezuelans find the sentiment favorable to such a plan, they said they would offer a motion providing for the confederation.

The treatment accorded Venezuela by the United States in the recent trouble that resulted in the overthrow of President Castro and her course in the enforcement of claims against Venezuela were cited as evidences of "American aggression in South America." Unless checked, the Venezuelans declared, the United States will soon try to dictate the whole course of South American politics.

JACK JOHNSON IS HOODOOED

By Curious Train of Circumstances Everything Connected With Departure for Reno Unlucky

Reno, Nev., June 27.—If Jack Johnson were superstitious he might regard with apprehension certain peculiar facts connected with his trip from San Francisco to Reno. When Jack left San Francisco it was an undertaker who said the final words to the champion to speed him on his way. Twenty-three was the date of his departure. Early yesterday in the snows he was struck. Jack's train was delayed by a freight car derailment in which N.Y. 13 and the champion and his party finally left train at Reno, just fifteen minutes past one o'clock, three hours after the time scheduled for his arrival. To round out this hoodoo combination, he had to "down" in his training quarters on Friday. Johnson did not follow out his plans to begin training operations yesterday, and in view of the sinister combination which was discussed on all sides no one blamed him. In view of the continued talk of possible interference by the state officials, Promoter Rickard was much reassured by the receipt today from Ely of the following telegram from Governor Dickinson: "Prize fighting is licensed under the laws of this state. My duties are to enforce the laws, not to make them. There will be no interference from the Governor's office, if the requirements of the law are complied with. This decision is irrevocable. You may use this telegram as you see fit."

(Signed) D. S. DICKINSON,
"Governor of Nevada."

SO LONG, ECKSTORM

President Frank Gray of the Edmonton baseball club has ordered Manager Deacon Eckstorm to resign. White to bring the Eskimos back to the city today. Whether Lethbridge turns up or not, rests entirely with President Eckstorm. If the Miners do not put in an appearance they will forfeit the games. Eckstorm must resign.

ATHLETIC TEAM
CONSISTS OF 7

Lack of Financial Support Makes It Necessary to Reduce Size of Local Contingent

The Edmonton Athletic Association has had a hard row to hoe in its endeavor to send a representative team to the provincial meet in Lethbridge. During the campaign to raise funds for the trip, the committee met with several disappointments. First, the council refused to grant any money to advertise the city, in this excellent manner, and the benefit football match was a financial failure. It is now necessary to cut down the size of the team as the finances will not permit the original number being sent. The Edmonton team, as at present constituted, consists of seven men, Deacon, Parney, Cameron, Grecklock, Wright, Williams, and Rowland. A few of our team will not be sent, as Chas. Lancy is unable to allow any of his constables, with the exception of Cameron, to make the trip.

The team will leave here on the midnight train on Wednesday and arrive in Lethbridge on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock. This gives the athletes a chance for a workout on Thursday evening and a good night's rest before the meet.

The men who are being sent are the winners of first places in the trial sports held here and made good marks. Therefore, Edmonton's chances at Lethbridge look bright.

FROM ESKIMOS

Visitors Were Unable to Hit Smithson—Moose Jaw Pretty Well Disabled

Moose Jaw, June 27.—Smithson, the little southpaw had the best of Grady on Saturday in ten hits to three. The score, 3 to 2, shows good work on the bases by the visitors. The Robins positions were considerably changed. Elsey in right, Starkell in left, and Manager Davis at third. All played their positions well. Jones, the third batter in the hospital, Triplett, Hurley and Elsey are suffering from sprains, and the others with broken fingers so the team leaves on its trip in rather bad condition.

CLAUDE R. WON

Brandon, Man., June 27.—In a match pacing race between Claude R. and Queen's Ideal here this afternoon, the Prince Albert horse won in three straight heats as follows:

First heat—Claude R. went ahead at the first turn and led the full distance, winning easily by a length. Time, 2:06 1/2.

Second heat—The horses got away well together, Claude R. leading at first turn, but shortly after was overtaken by Queen's Ideal, who led under the wire for the first half. Before the three quarter was reached Claude R. again took the lead, which he maintained, winning by two lengths. Time, 2:17 1/2.

Third heat—Claude R. went ahead right at the start and Queen's Ideal never was in the race, the former winning by 25 yards. Time, 2:27.

CORNELL WAS BEST

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 27.—For the ninth time since college boat racing began over the Poughkeepsie course, Cornell captured all three events Saturday. Inspired by easy victories the four-oared and freshmen Varsity eight won from Pennsylvania. Cornell was last, Syracuse fourth, Wisconsin last. Time, 20:42 1/2.

The varsity four-oared resulted: Cornell, Syracuse, Columbia, Pennsylvania. Time, 11:43 1/2.

Just after finishing the Columbia's shell upset. All were rescued. The freshmen eight finished Cornell, Syracuse, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin. Time, 10:40 1/2.

TECUMSEHS BEAT CORNWALL
Toronto, June 27.—Over 3,000 people saw Tecumsehs defeat Cornwall in N.L.U. game at the Island. Score was 10 to 0. The game was a 5. Half time score 6-0 for Tecumsehs. The locals are showing improved form.

THE RECENT TROUBLE

The cat is out of the bag. Edmontonians have been groping around for an explanation of Czar Eckstorm's action in depriving the Eskimos of four home games. But we have found out why.

It appears that Chesty Cox had an ironclad contract with the Lethbridge baseball club for the season. Eckstorm, with his usual Oriental despotism, coolly gave Eugene his walking papers, discharging the contract entirely. But Chesty is no shy, shrinking rose, so he immediately got busy and put in a suit for damages, and filed a writ of attachment against the Lethbridge share of the gate receipts when next the Miners play in Edmonton. Now a glance at the schedule shows us that Lethbridge should play here today. But Eckstorm has decided not. The Poo Bah probably thinks he can escape the writ by not sending his team here, but that's where he is very much mistaken. Chesty intends following him right to his own back yard and will insist upon the payment of the above-named claim.

In the meantime, Edmonton baseball fans demand that the Eskimos be allowed to return home before the first of July or there will be trouble. The feeling in this city is very strong against the league president, and it seems to be the consensus of opinion that the club owners should demand his resignation before he completely ruins the Western Canada League.

If his official mouthpiece, the Lethbridge Herald, which informed the Capital "it was none of our business," when we asked the president for a little information, can give an explanation for Eckstorm's last bad break, we would be delighted to see it. It will take some tall explaining.

Edmonton is one of the largest cities on the circuit. The holiday games of the Western Canada League are pooled. Now, wouldn't any ordinary league president have holiday games played in the cities where the games would be the largest? But not so President Eckstorm. He doesn't care a tinker's care about the league receipts so long as his pet team, Lethbridge, is well cared for. The consequence is, he orders the Eskimos to stay on the road for the holiday.

Let this man resign, and let it be soon.

Mighty Baseball Carnival on Saturday—Bulletin Shows Journal How the Game Is Played

There was a game of baseball on Saturday afternoon between the Bulletin and Journal. Cheered on by thousands of feminine fans and one or two of the male persuasion, the two teams gave a highly original exposition of the American national game. If there hadn't been a few bats and gloves lying around, the casual spectator might have imagined he was witnessing a cricket or even a polo game. The Bulletin tired themselves out running bases, and completed the immense total of eighteen runs. To this the Journal added with the insignificant total of six.

The bright features of the game were the demon batting of the entire Bulletin team, and a famous catch by Moss in the outfield. The Journal gladiators also figured in three double plays.

It is rumored in police circles that the same teams will meet again next Saturday. If they keep on playing every Saturday for a month or two they will be in pretty fair shape to challenge the Capital, for the championship.

NEVADA GOV.

Will Take No Heed of Frenzied "Stop-the-Fight" Telegrams and Letters

Carson City, Nev., June 27.—Protests against the Jeffries-Johnson fight, both by mail and telegraph continue to flood the office of Governor Dickerson, but they are promptly relegated to the waste basket. The Governor does not intend to interfere with the fight in any way. 'Tis was the positive statement of his secretary today. This matter is final as far as this office is concerned, said Attorney General Fowler today. "The law is clear. The only way to stop prize fighting in Nevada is to pass legislation against it. The present law is on the side of those who favor prize fighting."

candidate the premier of the province, and I hope that on the twenty-ninth of this month you will return him as your representative in the legislature, and I am sure there is no doubt but that you will do this.

The speaker then went on to say that he had been one of those who had been called insurgent in the last legislature.

"But there are no insurgents now," said Mr. Smith.

Mr. Smith then outlined briefly the career and history of the insurgent movement. They had taken their stand in opposition to the government because they honestly believed that they were acting in the best interests of the province. And he believed that subsequent events had proved this to be the case.

Liberal Party United
"Mr. Rutherford resigned," said Mr. Smith. "Then Mr. Sifton was called to the premiership by the Lieutenant Governor, and not only insurgents, but also the supporters of the late government believe that he is perfectly capable of handling the affairs of the province. All parts of the Liberal party are satisfied with our new premier."

"Now there has been one complaint because Mr. Sifton has made no statement of policy. This has been the case particularly in regard to the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway contract. But let us look at the facts in regard to this. The Royal Commission appointed to inquire into this deal has not yet made its report. If the Premier were to announce his policy in regard to this matter, it would be, in my opinion, the same as that he was to say to the judges 'your report is not to be considered when you bring it in.' Now, Mr. Sifton is too much of a lawyer, has been a judge himself too recently to do this."

"Then again there is the A. & G. W. Railway. There is no doubt but that its promoters are guessing as to what the premier will do with their contract as much as we are. It would be extremely bad business to tell this company what is to be done and to ignore them. Let them go ahead and hang themselves. I, for one, am perfectly satisfied with the stand the premier has taken of keeping his own counsel for the present."

All Constitutional
Mr. Smith then took up the question of the constitutionality of the Lieutenant Governor calling upon Mr. Sifton as premier, and quoted precedents from Conservative history to show that it was a proper act. In answering the cry of the opposition for general elections, Mr. Smith pointed out that one reason why general elections would be very bad at the present time, was that the business of the province had been held up long enough already and great loss would result if it were delayed until general elections were over.

The Conservatives are raising the cry that the premier had not received the mandate of the people," continued Mr. Smith. "No premier ever gets any mandate until after he is appointed. Mr. Sifton is getting his mandate from you now. He is getting it in the constituency of Medicine Hat. And he has already received it in the Lethbridge constituency where Mr. McLean was elected by acclamation. Further than this, he has also received it from a majority of the members of the House."

Conservative Speaker
Mr. MacKie, in a lengthy and witty address attempted to show why the Conservative party considered it necessary to oppose Mr. Sifton.

He thought that it was dangerous for the people to accept Mr. Sifton on faith.

"He has a good record behind him, I'll admit," said the speaker, "but he has announced no policy. He is circumscribed by nothing and you should always beware of the man who is not bound by any party lines."

Mr. MacKie didn't think that Mr. Sifton was being thrashed upon the own constituency, but he hoped that election day would prove this better than anything else. The speaker also admitted that the Lieutenant Governor was technically right in calling upon Mr. Sifton, but he argued, the circumstances surrounding the case made his action manifestly unjust.

In speaking of the fact that Mr. Sifton had announced no policy in regard to the A. & G. W. Mr. MacKie used the phrase, "Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise." He also attempted to argue that the number of workers arrayed against Mr. Clarke proved that he was a strong man.
